Re: Request for NSL Nondisclosure Review Regarding NSL No. 10-288826

Dear [REDACTED]:

Your letter, dated May 26, 2017, ("May 26th letter") provided notice to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) that Automatic desires the government to initiate judicial review of the nondisclosure requirement imposed in connection with the following National Security Letter (NSL) issued by the FBI: 10-288826.

Please be advised that the FBI has reviewed the nondisclosure requirement imposed in connection with the NSL at issue and determined that the facts and circumstances supporting nondisclosure under 18 U.S.C. § 2709(c) no longer continue to exist. Consequently, the government is lifting the nondisclosure requirement imposed in connection with this NSL and accept Automatic's invitation to voluntarily redact the target information contained therein, as provided in the attachment to your May 26th letter. Based on privacy and safety considerations, the FBI further requests that your client continue to maintain the confidentiality of the name and telephone number of the Special Agents contained within the NSL, located in paragraphs 9 and 13. In light of this notification that the nondisclosure requirement is lifted, there is no need for judicial review pursuant to the provisions of 18 U.S.C. § 3511(b).

Sincerely,

Karen D. Miller
Acting Deputy General Counsel
